

A Colour-banding Study of Welcome Swallows Breeding in Southern Tasmania

P. PARK

The breeding of a group of individually colour-banded Welcome Swallows Hirundo neoxena was studied at Campania in southern Tasmania over a period of five years during the time between their arrival each spring to their departure in the autumn.