

First record of Carnaby's Cockatoo raising two broods in one season

R. E. Johnstone¹, T. Kirkby¹ and Z. M. Kissane²

¹Department of Terrestrial Zoology, Western Australian Museum, Locked Bag 49, Welshpool DC, Western Australia 6986

²Centre for Terrestrial Ecosystem Science and Sustainability, Harry Butler Institute, Murdoch University, Western Australia 6150
Zoe Kissane <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-7789-399X>

Received: 25 July 2023

Accepted: 20 November 2023

Here we report on a female Carnaby's Cockatoo Calyptorhynchus latirostris (subgenus Zanda) that successfully bred twice in the 2022–2023 breeding season at Cataby, Western Australia. This is the first record of a cockatoo raising two broods in the one season.

Keywords: Carnaby's Cockatoo; double breeding; Western Australia